

Searching for answers

THOSE struggling to work out the meaning of life might have found answers when author June Austin (pictured right) signed copies of her book Genesis of Man on Saturday.

She spent an hour at Waterstones in Staines High Street chatting with customers and signing copies of the tome.

June describes Genesis of Man, written in 2006 and updated in May, as a work of spiritual wisdom and philosophy that brings together science, religion and other subjects.

She said: "The book is subtitled the answer to life, the universe and everything in between, since it covers so many topics."

